

BS in Education (Dual Degree)

Students seeking Secondary Certification in Social Studies or History may choose to complete the dual degree option [Social Studies Composite (Dual Degree) major or History (Dual Degree) major available in the College of Liberal Arts- Department of History AND the matching BSED Secondary Education (either Social Studies or History Dual Degree concentration)]. Students in these majors are eligible to participate in the Paid Student Teaching Residency. Students who fulfill all of the degree requirements for the BA-History (Dual Degree) and the BSED- Secondary Education (Dual Degree) earn both degrees.

Secondary [7-12] Social Studies with ESL Certification [Dual Degree]

(with paid Student Teaching Residency)

Students on this degree plan will complete the courses for a major in Social Studies Composite [Dual Degree] (in the History Department- College of Liberal Arts) and courses for the major in Secondary Education Social Studies [Dual Degree] (in the Teacher Education n Department-College of Education). If all course requirements in the degree plans from both Colleges are successfully met, students will receive dual degrees-- a BA in History (concentration in Social Studies Composite) and a BS in Education (concentration in [7-12] Social Studies). Students on this degree pathway will fulfill certain language and block elective requirements demanded of all students majoring in the College of Liberal Arts, as well as certain course requirements required to major in the College of Education in Secondary Education. The BA in History will be listed as the first degree; the BS in Education will be listed as the second degree.

This plan features a one-year paid residency administered by the College of Education. Students majoring in Social Studies Composite [Dual Degree] in the History Department, who have already been admitted to the Education Preparation Program, are eligible for this dual-degree plan. To start residency, students need to have completed most non-education degree requirements, at least four courses in secondary education (SCED 3311, TED 4355, RED 3342, and BED 4317), and they need to have passed the State Content Certification Exam.

Secondary [7-12] History with ESL Certification [Dual Degree]

(with paid Student Teaching Residency)

Students on this degree plan will complete the courses for a major in History [Dual Degree] (in the History Department- College of Liberal Arts) and courses for the major in Secondary Education History Education [Dual Degree] (in the Teacher Education Department-College of Education). If all course requirements in the degree plans from both Colleges are successfully met, students will receive dual degrees-- a BA in History and a BS in Education (concentration in [7-12] History Education). Students on this degree pathway will fulfill certain language and block elective requirements demanded of all students majoring in the College of Liberal Arts, as well as certain course requirements required to major in the College of Education in Secondary Education.
