

Multidisciplinary Studies

Courses

BMS 4350. Prof. Skills for LA Careers.

Professional Skills for Liberal Arts Careers is designed to help students translate their academic experiences into professional competencies applicable across diverse career paths. The course emphasizes employability skills such as communication, leadership, teamwork, digital literacy, critical thinking, and cross-sector problem solving-skills that employers consistently identify as essential for workplace success. Keywords: Career Readiness, Career Pathways.

3 Credit Hours

3 Total Contact Hours

0 Lab Hours

3 Lecture Hours

0 Other Hours

BMS 4370. Seminar.

This course encourages students to synthesize knowledge from at least two distinct disciplines to develop a comprehensive understanding of complex problems and their potential solutions. Aimed at those interested in exploring the intersections of diverse academic fields, the seminar includes critical discussions, hands-on projects, and research activities.

3 Credit Hours

3 Total Contact Hours

0 Lab Hours

3 Lecture Hours

0 Other Hours

Classification Restrictions:

Restricted to class of JR, SR

BMS 4380. Internship Seminar.

BMS 4380, Internship Seminar, is designed to provide Liberal Arts students with a structured, credit-bearing internship experience that integrates professional practice, community engagement, and academic reflection. Keywords: Internship, Career Readiness

3 Credit Hours

3 Total Contact Hours

0 Lab Hours

3 Lecture Hours

0 Other Hours

Classification Restrictions:

Restricted to class of JR, SR

BMS 4390. Directed Study.

Individual directed study on an approved topic, to be taught with the consent of the professor and approval from the program director.

3 Credit Hours

3 Total Contact Hours

0 Lab Hours

3 Lecture Hours

0 Other Hours

Classification Restrictions:

Restricted to class of SR